

Claim an earlier appointment

with a text message

How it works:

1. If you have an appointment scheduled, we'll text you if an earlier appointment opens up.
2. The text will include details about your current appointment and the open one.
3. There will be a "magic word" in the text message.
4. The first patient to respond with the "magic word" gets the earlier appointment. If you don't want the earlier appointment, just ignore the text message.

If you text "Stop," you will be removed from all text communications and might miss an important reminder from your provider.

Make sure we have your cell phone number on file.
